Cooper Considers Calling Legislature

EMPLOYMENT AID SESSION IS PROPOSED

Convening of Assembly for Relief Measures Likely, Governor Says.

WOULD BE BEFORE DEC. 15

Enactment of Legislation To Help Public Libraries Also on Program.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12—Governor Cooper stated today he is giving serious consideration to the possibility of calling a special session of the state legislature to consider enactment of legislation to relieve unemployment.

So seriously is he considering the proposition that the governor stated it is likely such a session will be called. He was conferring today with members of his official family on the proposition.

Probable Date Indicated

If a special session is called, the governor said it probably will be before Dec. 15 at the time the new members who take office in January meet to hold their caucuses for organizing the two branches. The session, however, would be conducted by the old members, as the newly-elected members cannot qualify until the first Monday in January.

In addition to considering legislation to relieve unemployment, the governor indicated that he might ask the law makers to give consideration to enactment of a relief measure for public libraries. The new taxation amendment which becomes operative next Jan. 1,, automatically repealed all tax levies for public libraries and they will be without funds to operate unless some curative act is passed. The Ohio Library association has appealed to the governor to consider the plight of libraries in his call for a special session.

Plans To Promote Public Work

Just what form legislation for unemployment relief may take, has not been definitely determined by the governor, though he indicated that it will be emergency legislation that will enable political subdivisions to issue bonds and short term notes for public improvements. The possibility of making a direct appropriation by the state to aid sufferers may also be considered, it was indicated.

An amendment to the uniform bond act which was passed by the last assembly, raising the limitations on bond issues by municipalities, counties and other political subdivisions, probably will be one of the chief phases to be considered. Most of these political subdivisions now are bonded to their limit under present restrictions and no additional bonds can be issued unless the limitations are raised, it was stated.

LIQUOR CACHE FOUND AT PROSPECT HOME

William Northrup To Be Given Hearing on Charge Today.

A hearing on a charge of illegal possession of 150 gallons of intoxicating liquor was scheduled to be held this afternoon in probate court for William Northrup, who was arrested by state prohibition agents Monday night at his home in Prospect.

The agents seized 100 gallons of alleged whisky and 382 pints of bonded liquor, according to Loyd Wine, district inspector, who made the arrest in company with two other operatives. The alleged liquor was found under a trap door in a garage behind the Northrup home.

Wine said Northrup was fined $1,000 on a sale charge in Delaware county five years ago and that he spent a year in jail in default of payment. The fine was assessed at the time by Probate Judge W. V. Aldrich of Delaware county, now deputy state prohibition commissioner.

Northrup's arrest followed the confiscating of an alleged liquor truck in Ashland some time ago. The truck, whose license was taken out by Northrup, smashed into a filling station. He has been in county jail since Monday night.

The state men Monday night also ordered Frank Elspack of 135 Mill street to appear in court today on a possession of liquor charge. Two and one-half pints of alleged whisky are said to have been found in his possession.

Ten Thousand View City's Biggest Armistice Parade Since End of War.

Last night's drizzling rain held off just long enough to enable the city to stage its greatest Armistice day celebration since the armistice was signed 12 years ago.

Approximately 3,000 persons took part in the parade, which was a mile in length, while an additional 10,000 or more persons lined the streets on which the parade made its way. Hundreds took vantage seats in office windows as the marchers passed down Center street, crossed over to Church on Orchard street, and then wound up the pageantry by continuing on Main street to the railroad.

Rain Holds Off

No sooner had the parade been completed and prizes awarded for the best floats and comic characterizations from the drizzle began. It lasted all night.

The parade was made up of four divisions and was led by Col. T. E. Andrews as grand marshal. Clarence Bowe was chief-of-staff. Divisional commanders were William E. Marks, Dr. James W. McMurray, J. W. Llewellyn and Dr. F. L. Thomas.

SUGRUE WILL ASK RECOUNT

New Error Discovered at Bucyrus; 60 Ballots Not Counted.

TRAILS BY 182 VOTES

Bower Holds Slight Lead After Official Returns Are Announced.

A recount in votes cast for state senator in Marion and the six other counties in the combined thirteenth and thirty-first districts loomed today with announcement from Tiffin that Ralph Sugrue, Democratic candidate for one of the two offices, would seek a recount.

Official returns tabulated yesterday show Sugrue trailing John Bower of Rushylvania by 182 votes. At the same time it was learned that Crawford county officials would make a recount after discovering that approximately 60 Democratic ballots probably had not been tabulated.

Robert L. Rohe of Tiffin, incumbent, is assured election as one of the two senators due to a comfortable majority in the count announced yesterday. Rohe obtained 42,222 votes to lead the rest of the field by more than 3,000.

Bower is given 39,037 votes and Suegrue 38,853 in the official returns. Dallas Sullivan of Richwood trailed far behind the others with 36,716. Rohe and Sullivan are Republicans and Bower and Sugrue, Democrats.

LAST OF 6 ESCAPED PRISONERS CAUGHT

Cleveland Police Capture Three Inmates of Mansfield Reformatory.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 12—Police Chief William Barrows of Cleveland Heights said today the three escaped Mansfield reformatory prisoners who were captured here last night, told him they paid reformatory guards three dollars for the saws which were used in their escape.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12 — The round-up of six youths who escaped from the Mansfield state reformatory yesterday was completed by Cleveland Heights police today with the arrest of the last three prisoners sought.

The trio was picked up late last night when police saw them acting suspiciously near a store and admitted they were escaped convicts after several hours of questioning this morning, police said.

They gave their names as Clark Walton, 18, Columbus, automobile thief; Joseph Miner, 21, Cleveland, housebreaker; and John Savchik 17, Youngstown, a delinquent.

Sergeant George Denk, who headed the squad which made the capture, said the youths were unarmed but told him "if we had had guns we would have shot it out with you."

The liberty of the other three prisoners who sawed a bar from a dormitory window and slid down a rope ladder thrown over the wall was even shorter. Paul Mailten, 20, Athens, serving time for highway robbery, was found at the home of his sweetheart in Akron last night a few hours after Charles Flannery 17, Cincinnati, a delinquent, and Leslie Brown, 24, Cleveland robber, were apprehended on a road near Mansfield.

T. C. Jenkins, superintendent of the reformatory, suspended Guards A. H. Morris, and G. A. Wheaton for 30 days, asserting that had they exercised greater vigilance in inspecting the dormitory, the ... would have been pre...

LATE RAINS AID TO BOOST CROP YIELDS

Average in Most Farm Products Still Lower Than Last Year.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12—Late seasonal rains stepped up Ohio's agricultural production during October but the average in most crops is still below last year and five-year average, A. R. Tuttle, of the federal crop reporting service said today.

"Indications pointed to a corn yield of 25.5 bushels per acre which is the lowest recorded since 1893," Tuttle said. "The Nov. 1 estimate is about 90,602,000 bushels, which is 10 per cent more than the forecast on Oct. 1. Production this season is about 38,000,000 bushels less than last year and 32 per cent below the five year average."

Although the early potato crop was affected by the drouth the late crop showed unexpected improvement bringing total production up to 61 per cent more than was indicated two months ago. The 1930 crop is estimated at 9,450,000 bushels.

Late rains benefitted the sugar beet crop to a great extent.

Improvement in Ohio fruits was indicated in the November reports. Apples now are estimated at 3,640,000 bushels, pears 190,000 bushels, grapes 24,500 tons. The apple quality is about 11 points below the 10-year average of 76 per cent, pears 12 points below and grapes about 3 points less.

Kenton Murder Trial Postponed One Week

By The Associated Press

KENTON, O., Nov. 12—Common Pleas Judge Hamilton E. Hoge today continued from Nov. 17 to Nov. 24 the trial of James Willis, 21, on first degree murder charges in connection with the slaying two weeks ago of G. L. Ansley. Willis was alleged by officials to have killed Ansley because the man's daughter had broken a "date" with him.

BOARD FORMED TO FACILITATE RELIEF WORK

Efficient, Economical Use of Money Aim of Community Fund Directors.

COMBINE ALL ACTIVITIES

Case Worker Will Aid Group; Subsidiary in Charge of Clothing.

Work of caring for the city's needy and carrying on welfare activities of the community will be worked out and developed under the guidance of a Central Welfare board made up of representatives from the various charitable organizations of the city, with the cooperation of the poor relief department of the city, it was announced today by Frank D. Glosser, president of the Community Fund.

Plans have been discussed, communications exchanged and personal visits made to other cities by representatives of the Community Fund board in order to determine the best methods of caring for the city's needy and dependents, and the present plan, viewed from all angles is believed to be the best to be found.

Realizing that an unusual situation is to be met in Marion as in other cities at this time, definite steps are being taken to place the plan in operation immediately. By following the plan outlined it is believed that all duplication and inefficiency in the distribution of relief will be overcome and that the funds available for this work, will be conserved as well as made more far-reaching in their scope.

Mrs. McNamara Chairman

Mrs. John T. McNamara has been named chairman of the Central Welfare board. She will be assisted by Dr. T. E. Sonnanstine, Rev. Herbert F. Weckmueller, Henry P. Drake, Mrs. George Turner, Miss Margaret Dowd, C. A. Bolin, Fred Scherff, Alfred Donithen and Ensign Shackleford. The function of this board will be distributing primarily, food, clothing and fuel to the needy of Marion in such a way that the field will be effectively covered. This can be done it is believed through one representative body rather than through the several groups. Another important factor in carrying on the work of the board is that thorough investigation will be made and steps taken to withhold relief from those who are able to support themselves, which in the opinion of the community fund executives is just as important as to assist persons unable to provide for themselves.

Working with the new board and the organizations will be a case worker whose training and experience can be brought to bear on each individual case and who in the opinion of the organization will fill the need of an experienced director in the work. The field of endeavor is so wide and the relative need of the individual so dif...

SEEK ARMISTICE IN MARION BREAD WAR

State Association Representative To Intervene in Price Battle Here.

Failure of local bakery officials to "get together" in a conference concerning recent price cuts may cause the local bread war to endure indefinitely, it was reported today by one of the city's leading bakers.

A representative of the state bakers' association was scheduled to come here today to talk with bakery heads in an effort to reach a conciliation. None of them will meet together due to differences which brought on the war, it was said.

Meanwhile, the standard 10-cent loaf was still selling at retail stores for seven and eight cents. The wholesale price has been cut by two cents a loaf with the result that bakeries are selling their product for less than cost, they say.

The war began last week. Marion housewives are reported to be purchasing more bread than ever before.

Rescued from Wreckage After 3 Days Adrift

By The Associated Press

EUREKA, Cal., Nov. 12—Jorgen M. Greve, first officer of the lumber schooner Brooklyn, which sank off Humboldt bay Saturday with all hands, lived today to tell how he drifted more than 70 hours on a bit of wreckage in a gale maddened sea.

He was rescued yesterday by the crew of the fishing boat Two Sisters five miles from shore. Greve was clinging grimly to wreckage and life, semi-conscious.

He is the only known survivor of the crew of 18.

Last night he revived sufficiently to tell a graphic story of the disaster. He told of the mountainous waves striking the bow of the little schooner, making it impossible to steer. Something must have happened to the engine, then, he said.

The pilot house, then the superstructure were torn away as gigantic seas swamped the vessel, he said.

Sunday at daybreak he was opposite the old whaling station at Trinity and summoned all his strength to paddle to shore only to be fought back by currents.

Waves piled over him throwing him against the wreckage, breaking his skin and tearing his clothes.

"I don't remember much else," he finished, exhausted.

CONVENE TO EVOLVE NEW RULE FOR INDIA

British Conference with Colony Leaders Is Anxiously Watched by England.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 12—India, grown sullen and resentful at the postponement of its independence, began its day in court today when the imperial round table conference convened in an effort to decide the future status of India.

King George today convened the conference which during the coming winter will attempt to evolve a government for the Asiatic empire satisfactory to its restless millions.

His majesty, expressing anxiety at the course of events in India, told his hearers that he would follow their deliberations with closest attention, but with confidence in their success.

The formal, imposing opening of the deliberations was held amidst the gorgeous regal trappings of the royal gallery of the House of Lords, official home of the British nobility. Eighty-six delegates were present. Of these, 57 were from the provinces of India and 16 from the native Indian states including nine powerful ruling princes.

Meanwhile, in far-off Hindustan Mahatma Gandhi, picturesque and ascetic leader of the widespread Indian revolt for absolute independence, was watching proceedings in London from a Poona prison cell. He and the millions of rebellious, unsettled Indians who follow his creed were not represented at the assembly, which they voted months ago to boycott.

CARS RUNNING TODAY AS DEAL IS COMPLETED

Local Electric Company Acquires C., M. & B. Property from Junk Firm.

SERVICE TO BE EXTENDED

Creditors of Defunct Line Must File Claims with Receiver by Nov. 29.

The C. D. & M. Electric Co. at noon today acquired property of the C. M. & B. Railway Co. and immediately restored electric rail service between Bucyrus and Marion.

In taking over the railway line, the C. D. & M. Electric Co. exercised the right of option it has held on the railway since it became the property of Malo Bros., local junk dealers, at a receiver's sale last week.

Although future plans for the development of the line were not announced, the electric company is said to be planning through service from Columbus to Bucyrus with its equipment, and may make extensive improvements, including track reconstruction. The first passenger car left for Bucyrus at 1:15 p. m. today.

Freight service, which was temporarily suspended yesterday, was resumed last night, according to information from the Bucyrus office of the C. M. & B. and from local freight offices of the C. D. & M. Electric Co. which has handled all local business for both companies.

Freight Goes Through

Several cars of freight went from Marion to Bucyrus last night over the line, including freight picked up in Marion.

The C. D. & M. Electric Co. is taking over the line from Malo Bros., local junk dealers, who bought the company equipment at a receiver's sale last week for $31,500.

Officials of the C., D. & M. are also said to have outlined plans to extend passenger service to Bucyrus after making extensive repairs of the tracks between Marion and Bucyrus. Passenger cars of the C., D. & M. are said to be considerably heavier than those used by the C., M. & B., making repairs and possibly alteration of the road necessary.

Will Maintain Link

With passenger and freight service fully restored, the property formerly owned by the C., M. & B. Railway Co. will continue to be a link in electric service between Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati, by way of Marion, Bucyrus and Delaware. Had the line been discontinued, freight and passengers formerly using this route would have been obliged to travel over a more circuitous route from Columbus to Cleveland by way of Toledo. Also, the electric service of the C., D. & M. Electric Co. would have been at a dead-end in Marion.

When passenger service between Marion and Bucyrus was suspended yesterday, the Galion-Mansfield Transit Co. renewed its efforts to obtain an emergency permit to extend the Galion-Mansfield service to Marion by way of Bucyrus. The company was awaiting a reply from the utilities commission on the application today.

Claims of creditors of the Columbus, Marion & Bucyrus Railway Co., whose sale to Malo Bros., junk firm, was confirmed this week by common pleas court, must be filed with Receiver George Whysall on or before Nov. 29, the court ordered today.

Claimants who fail to file their claims on or before that time will be barred from participating in the proceeds of the sale, which amounted to $31,500, the court decreed.

EXPLAIN CITY FUND SHIFTS

Misinterpretation of Records Due to Misunderstanding, Officials Say.

CITY STILL HARD PRESSED

Bills To Be Paid and Payrolls Met Until Dec. 15 as Result of Transfers.

Misinterpretation of the auditor's records by city officials and an improper division of funds among city departments at the first of the year today were reasons given at the city hall for officials believing their departments would be "broke" by Nov. 15.

Because city officials did not keep in close touch with the records of the city auditor, they were not aware of the existence of several thousands dollars in two city departments which will enable the city to pay most of its bills to Dec. 15, City Auditor J. L. Landes said today.

Officials were acquainted with the fact the money existed when State Examiner George Dustman conferred with them nearly a week ago.

City Still Hard Pressed

The city remains hard pressed financially as it can pay part of its bills only to Dec. 15, and will be unable to pay debts of several thousand dollars contracted this year until next year according to officials. Tax money given the city in semi-annual settlements was not divided in the correct proportion among city departments, it was revealed today. The hospital fund was given aproximately $9,000 of which Safety Director T. E. Sonnanstine had no record until State Examiner Dustman met with officials last week. This money was not available for expenditure by the hospital, but was isolated in that fund. A part of this money has been transferred to needy departments.

Existence of this money, however, is shown on the records of Auditor Landes and on a monthly financial statement of the auditor to Mayor L. Don Jones.

Several thousand dollars from the general fund becomes available for transfer to departments whose funds were exhausted. Several conditions are said by officials to

MARKERT TO TAKE RECORDER'S OFFICE

Newly-Elected Official Expected To Qualify Within Next Few Days.

Charles Markert, elected last week to fill both the unexpired and full terms as county recorder, probably will assume his duties within the next few days, following receipt of his commission from Gov. Cooper.

Markert has not yet announced his selection for deputy recorder, he said today.

He will succeed Mrs. Cora McKeever, who was appointed last year by county commissioners to serve until a successor could be elected and qualified. Markert defeated Mrs. McKeever in the primary for the Republican nomination by 12 votes.

Russell Wilhelm, newly-elected prosecuting attorney, yesterday for the first time received congratulations of his friends on winning the election. He fell victim to chickenpox the day before election and has been confined to his home until yesterday.

OPINIONS DIFFER

Prospects of Early Arms Limitation Agreement Appear Increased.

By The Associated Press

GENEVA, Nov. 12—The formidable character of the problem of limiting land war materials was emphasized today when wide differences of opinion arose among the delegates to the preparatory disarmament commission.

These differences appeared to decrease the prospects of reaching an agreement on this important issue and the drafting of a general disarmament treaty.

The American proposal for a compromise which would leave the United States free to employ her own method of direct limitation while permitting others to use the budgetary system, was discouraged by Japan, but supported in some degree by France, Belgium and Norway.

"EUREKA" Special Offer
Limited Time Only

Never again, perhaps, will you get a chance to trade in your old vacuum cleaner to such good advantage. Regardless of make, age or condition—we will accept your old cleaner in exchange for a Eureka Junior complete with the famous Electric Hair Dryer!

Come Today—or Telephone

There are no strings or conditions attached to this offer. Your old, worn-out electric vacuum cleaner wastes time and energy — and perhaps doesn't do a good job of cleaning any more. Bring it in and trade it for the latest, modern Eureka.

You get the Grand Prize Eureka Standard Vacuum Cleaner at the regular price—but for your old cleaner we give you the handy Eureka Junior plus the useful Electric Hair Dryer — a total value of $19.50 for your old cleaner.

The Grand Prize Eureka Standard electric vacuum cleaner is one of the most efficient cleaners sold today. A test on your own rugs will convince you.

The Eureka "Junior" finds a hundred uses in the home. Cleans upholstery, portieres, drapes, stair carpets, autos, furniture, mattresses, etc. And with heating attachment it dries hair, warms bathrooms, etc.

You can bring in your old cleaner—or telephone for a representative to call. But don't overlook this offer—better take advantage of it TODAY.

LAST NIGHT at the THEATERS

Harold Lloyd Is Same Old Side-Splitter

IF you like Harold Lloyd, and who doesn't, you'll like him better than ever in his latest picture, "Feet First," which opened at the Palace last night. He's the same famous comedian in this picture that he was in any of his previous productions.

Harold is a lowly employe in a shoe store when the picture begins. He is ambitious, and during the play presents one way of becoming a success by taking a correspondence school course.

He chances to do a favor for the girl of his dreams, whom he thinks to be the daughter of a famous shoe manufacturer. Harold's activities on board ship and on the side of a building are side-splitting. He achieves success by slipping himself into an air mail bag, leaving the ship by plane and delivering a valuable contract for the shoe manufacturer.

Two interesting short subjects, a news reel and Regal Spenser's concert at the organ complete the Palace bill.

HOPI INDIANS TO APPEAR HERE

HOPI INDIAN GROUP

NATIVE DANCES, PLAY WILL BE PRESENTED

Program on Nov. 18 Is Number on High School Lecture Course.

Five Indians of the Hopi tribe and Edith Sterling Billingsley will appear on the Harding High school entertainment course Tuesday night Nov 18 at Central Junior High school.

This group is the only group of Hopi Dancers off the reservation near Phoenix Ariz. Edith Sterling Billingsley, their interpreter acted in that capacity when these five with several other members of the tribe went to Washington to make a plea before the United States congress to retain their ancient ceremonies which congress had been petitioned to prohibit them.

A harvest dance, war dance and the famous snake dance will be enacted on their program here together with a playlet taken from an ancient Hopi legend and presented in Indian style. The group also carries with it displays of the industrial life of the little known tribe.

TO CELEBRATE DADS' DAY SATURDAY

HIGH SCHOOL WILL HONOR FATHERS AT BATTLE WITH SHELBY

To Wear Numbers Corresponding to Those Worn by Player Sons.

HARDING High's Presidents will be battling with two objects in mind Saturday when they stack up against the Shelby Whippets on Fairground field here Overshadowing all other desires, of course, will be the hope of emerging with more points than the opposition Following this will be a desire to show their Dads that they really can play football. This, however, is far more difficult than it looks to the casual observer. Harding has lost three games and tied one in league competition this season and Shelby has lost the same number but tied none

Records Poor

Neither record is anything to get excited about but both teams have shown such improvement during the last two weeks that nothing exhibited in the Saturday struggle will be surprising. The Presidents demonstrated against Mansfield two weeks ago that they could tackle, block and in general play football if they really got down to work and did it. The result of the game was a six to six deadlock.

Along came Shelby the following Saturday and although it lost the game 7-0, demonstrated just as effectively that it would be no pushover for the remainder of the season. Mansfield worked hard to get 7 points and worked a lot harder to keep Shelby from scoring.

Harding Works Hard

Harding is working hard this week following a week of comparative rest and is expected to be in tip top condition for the Saturday fray. No injuries have cropped out yet to mar the lineup for this week. It is probable that the same lineup will start against Shelby that played the entire game against Mansfield. Alspach and Sloan on the flanks, Clay and Smith at the tackles, Eckenbarger and Jevas at guards, Williams at center, Bush at fullback, Keller and Morgan at halfbacks and Lindsey at quarterback compose this lineup.

Shelby is expected to have its full strength on the field Saturday. So far as is known there are no men on the hospital list in the Whippets' hangout. The invaders do not present a team with an attack built around one or two outstanding ball carriers. The team is well balanced and will present a smooth running attack and an overhead game that is worthy of the mention.

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

FROM the attitude which seems to have been taken by various members of the Harding High school football squad Coach Dewey Bohyer has a bigger job on his hands in getting ready for the Saturday game with Shelby than simply coaching the team in the execution of its plays The task which at present looms as bigger than coaching the team to play football is in battering into the players' heads that the opposition also can play the game

A number of Harding players apparently have developed a state of mind, following their unexpected 6-6 tie with Mansfield, which causes them to believe Shelby is just another football game It is—just another plenty tough football game We hope to see Harding come out on top in this game Saturday However, it is impossible to overlook the fact that unless various members of the squad get the idea out of their heads that all that is necessary to win Saturday is to have eleven men on the field, we will not be convinced that a victory is coming Harding's way. Shelby is going to provide a lot of opposition. The Men of Young are fast developing into a good football team and Harding will play all the football of which it is capable if it wins Saturday

The game Saturday will mark the final home appearance of a number of Harding gridders The local school is unusually fortunate this season in that only eight men are lost to the team and of these, only six have played anything like regularly this year For which we rise on our hind legs to give thanks to Allah.

Appearing for the last home game Saturday in Harding moleskins will be Bob Smith, tackle, Bob Bush fullback, Hayes Newby, end, John Sloan, end, Haver Alspach, end, Homer Houseworth, fullback, Dick Wright, back, and Bob Reid. Of this number the latter three have not played regularly.

Without a doubt, these men will be missed next season. Bob Bush in the backfield has been the mainstay of the Harding attack and also of the defense this season. He will probably leave the biggest hole to be filled of any of the departing regulars. He is the best tackler in the second line defenses and also does nearly all of the tossing in the President's aerial game. Besides this he has done almost all of the punting for Harding and incidentally has done next the best job in the league of this task It is possible that in all around kicking, McKinney of Mansfield is slightly superior, but the margin of superiority is very slim. Bush outkicked him in the Harding-Mansfield game but that cannot be accepted as giving him the edge for the year. Bob is a kicker that any coach would be glad to have in his lineup whether or not he is the best in the circuit.

Stribling Stock Falls as K. O. Punch Fails

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—With all due respect to Arthur DeKuh, failure of Young Stribling to flatten him today sent Stribling's heavyweight challenger's stock right down to rock bottom. He got the decision, but his victory was anything but a spectacular affair.

His failure to stop DeKuh makes Jack Sharkey's offer to fight Stribling for the New York Christmas fund for nothing, looms up like Al Smith's new building.

THISTLETHWAITE OUT TO WRECK HOPES OF WILDCATS FOR TITLE

Badger Mentor Expects To Hand Northwestern First Defeat of Year.

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Nov 12 The man that gave Northwestern its last Big Ten football lacing Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite will take a Wisconsin team to Evanston Saturday, with no other purpose than to wreck the Wildcat's chances of another title or share therein

Back in 1925 Thistlethwaite coached his last Northwestern eleven to a tie with Michigan for the championship He moved to Wisconsin where his best year was 1928 when Notre Dame among others, were defeated

The Cardinal got off to a roaring start this season, trampling Chicago and Pennsylvania, but succumbed to Purdue and was held to a scoreless tie by Ohio State.

The Badgers figure to get going this week and are hopeful of making their one Big Ten splurge against the title headed Northwestern eleven

Take Game Seriously

Northwestern, coaches and players, are taking the game more seriously than the Notre Dame affair a week from Saturday They want those little gold footballs and all that stands in the way is Wisconsin a team that can be extremely good or just ordinary

Things are just as serious at Michigan and Minnesota The Gophers need a victory over Michigan Saturday to make their season a success, while the Wolverines must win to hold their chances for the title Both Illinois and Chicago are looking forward to Saturday, with each expecting to gain its first major victory of the season Indiana already is bearing down on preparation for the "old oaken bucket" game with Purdue a week from Saturday, while the Boilermakers are taking it easy this week with only Butler to worry about.

Iowa and Ohio State, which meet Penn State and Pittsburgh, respectively, in intersectional games, have injury problems and last minute shifts are being effected to bolster up for the easterners.

Unemployment Chairman Is Hopeful Irish-Purple Game Will Be Transferred.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov 12—George Getz, chairman of the Illinois unemployment commission, and some thousands of would-be purchasers of Notre Dame-Northwestern football tickets, today still hoped the contest a week from Saturday would be transferred to Soldier Field.

Getz Monday reopened the plea that the Western conference permit the game to be moved from Dyche stadium at Northwestern, to Soldier Field and its much greater seating facilities, to obtain funds for relief of the unemployed. The Western conference faculty committee on athletics already has vetoed the proposition, but Getz has asked reconsideration, directing his request at President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern.

Mr Scott has promised an announcement by tomorrow, but the key to the situation still remains with the faculty committee. Presidents of other Big Ten universities also have been asked to aid in trying to shift the game to the bigger stadium which would hold enough people to provide $150,000 for unemployment relief.

NOT INTERESTED IN IRISH-PURPLE GAME

Hanley Confines Worries This Week to Struggle with Badgers.

By The Associated Press

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 12—Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern, desires and appreciates support and encouragement from the institution's alumni—but how he wishes its members would forget about Notre Dame until Wisconsin is looked after Saturday.

Northwestern's Big Ten title hopes rest on the outcome of the Badger game Saturday, and the Big Ten title is Northwestern's first consideration. The alumni, however, have forgotten all about the championship and are sending letters and telegrams to Hanley exhorting him to break his neck to beat Notre Dame a week from Saturday

Of course we want to beat Notre Dame,' Hanley said last night 'We want to win all our games That's what we are out there for every Saturday, but we want at least a share of the conference championship before we start worrying about Notre Dame."

FESLER TO COMPETE IN FINAL HOME GAME

Buckeye Star Ends Football Career in Columbus Against Pittsburgh.

BY JOSEPH K. RUKENBROD
I. N. S. Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Nov 12—Wesley Fesler (the Great) Fesler Ohio State three-sport star, will dig his cleats into the sod of Ohio stadium here for the last time in his college football career Saturday when the Pitt Panthers attack the Buckeyes

The game with Pitt will be Ohio's last home contest of the season. Illinois the last foe on the Buckeye card, will be met at Champaign

It will be the Panthers first trip to the huge Buckeye horseshoe and Ohio State.

Students will celebrate the event with their annual observance of Dad's day Ohio State and Pittsburgh met for the first time last year when Jock Sutherland's proteges walloped the Williamantics 19 ot 2

The Scarlet eleven is working hard this week to whip its scoring combination into shape in hopes of avenging that defeat

Having gained confidence in itself and prestige from the student body by its scuttling victory over the Navy last week the Scarlet and Gray team has high hopes of trouncing the Sutherland aggregation.

Will Miss Fesler

However happy the students and fans may be over the Navy victory their sadness surrounding the loss of Fesler will overshadow all of the joy His absence on the 1931 team if it isn't too early to look that far in the future, will be felt keenly.

One consolation, however, may be found in the fact that the curly-haired Youngstown lad will be performing for the Scarlet both in basket-ball and in baseball In both sports he is the outstanding star

Fesler has stood out as one of the best in the country since he first donned the Ohio State moleskins back in 1928

Will Be in Limelight

The eyes of the nation will be centered on him Saturday afternoon as the fans scribes and experts watch closely to see what he can do with the scrappy Panthers.

There is no question that Sutherland has been training his vicious cats for the Ohio State battle They have also been training for Fesler But there apparently is nothing that can stop the big boy unless it may be full cooperation of his teammates

Dave Onick sophomore backfield ace and Bob Grady substitute halfback were still on the injured list Wednesday Both are expected to be ready for service on Saturday

Bert Nasman scrappy sophomore center is still having trouble with the injured ankle suffered in the Michigan game, but will probably start against Pittsburgh

ASHLAND BEATEN BY WOOSTER TEAM, 26-6

Galion Uses Second Team To Whip Upper Sandusky, 28-21.

Smothered under a versatile attack of a perfectly functioning Wooster High school team Ashland High school took a 26 to 6 beating yesterday as their part in the celebration of Armistice day. Wooster outclassed the Stammen from start to finish

The one bright spot in the game from Ashland's point of view was a brilliant 60 yard dash by Matthews for the only Ashland touchdown of the game Matthews turned in his run in the first period

While the Ashland and Wooster teams were celebrating the termination of the war in their annual grid struggle Galion was using a flock of second stringers to gain a 28 to 21 victory over the representatives of Upper Sandusky High school.

The affair was little more than a practice game for the McClintock coached team.

9 TEAMS INVOLVED IN INTERSECTIONAL CONTESTS SATURDAY

Fordham Meets Toughest Foe in Mighty St. Mary's of California.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Saturday's slate finds nine eastern football teams involved in battles with eleven from other sections Fordham, Navy, Penn, Villanova Army and Marshall will remain at home while Pitt, Boston college and Penn State travel westward to defend eastern prestige.

Fordham's undefeated and untied eleven, one of the strongest in the sector, battles the rugged St. Mary's team from California that has battered around all season in the hope of stopping Southern Methodist but Penn hopes for its best against Georgia Tech Villanova and Army will not have against strenuous opposition former meeting Oglethorpe and Cadets tangling with Kentucky Wesleyan Marshall, which plays an eastern schedule, meets Louisville at Huntington W Va

Pitt, always strong in November takes on Ohio State at Columbus and seems likely to win but Boston State figures no better than even against Iowa at Iowa City Penn State college should top Loyola at Chicago without particular trouble although the Eagles have shown little offensive strength this season

The purely domestic part of the week-end schedule is packed with games backed by tradition The fifty-fourth meeting between Yale and Princeton will find the latter an overwhelming favorite. Harvard draws a strong defensive foe in Holy Cross and Cornell will be the under-dog against Dartmouth's unbeaten eleven. Syracuse does not seem to pack the punch to break back the high-powered offense of Colgate.

ASK RECOGNITION OF 172 WORLD RECORDS

Women Athletes Break More Marks Than Men During Last Year.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Nov. 12—Applications for recognition of 172 new records in swimming and track and field will come before the forty second annual convention of the Amateur Athletic Union at Washington Nov. 16, 17 and 18.

Through the activities of Helene Madison of Seattle and Stella Walsh of Cleveland, women athletes set more new records during the past year than did men. Feminine stars broke 46 records in swimming against 28 for the men and 24 in track against 17 for the so-called stronger sex.

Miss Madison, only 17 years old, set 12 world's and 27 American marks in swimming while Miss Walsh accounted for 11 new standards in running.

Frank Wykoff's 9 2-5 seconds performance for the 100-yards dash attracts principal interest in the men's division. This time and Paul Jessup's mark of 169 feet, 8 7-8 inches in the discus throw both better world's records. Wykoff turned in his great century at Los Angeles, May 10, 1930, and did not use starting blocks as had George Simpson, Ohio State flash, the previous year. The present world's and American record is 9 5-10 seconds held by Eddie Tolan of Michigan.

"Leading Citizen" Back Home for Celebration

By International News Service

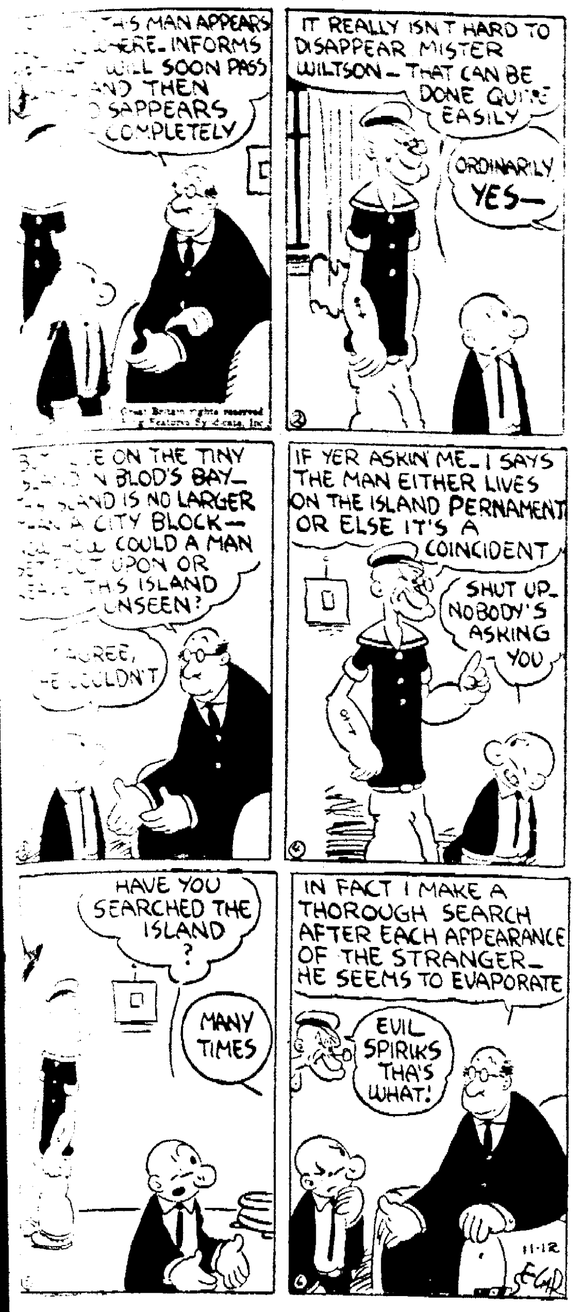

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 12—Martinsburg's best-known citizen was back home today for the winter vacation. He is Louis R. Wilson—"Hack" Wilson to you—the famous Chicago Cubs outfielder and the leading home-run hitter of the National league last season.

A tremendous crowd of citizens turned out to greet the star yesterday when he arrived from Chicago after completing a vaudeville engagement there. His wife and young son were among the crowd of welcomers.

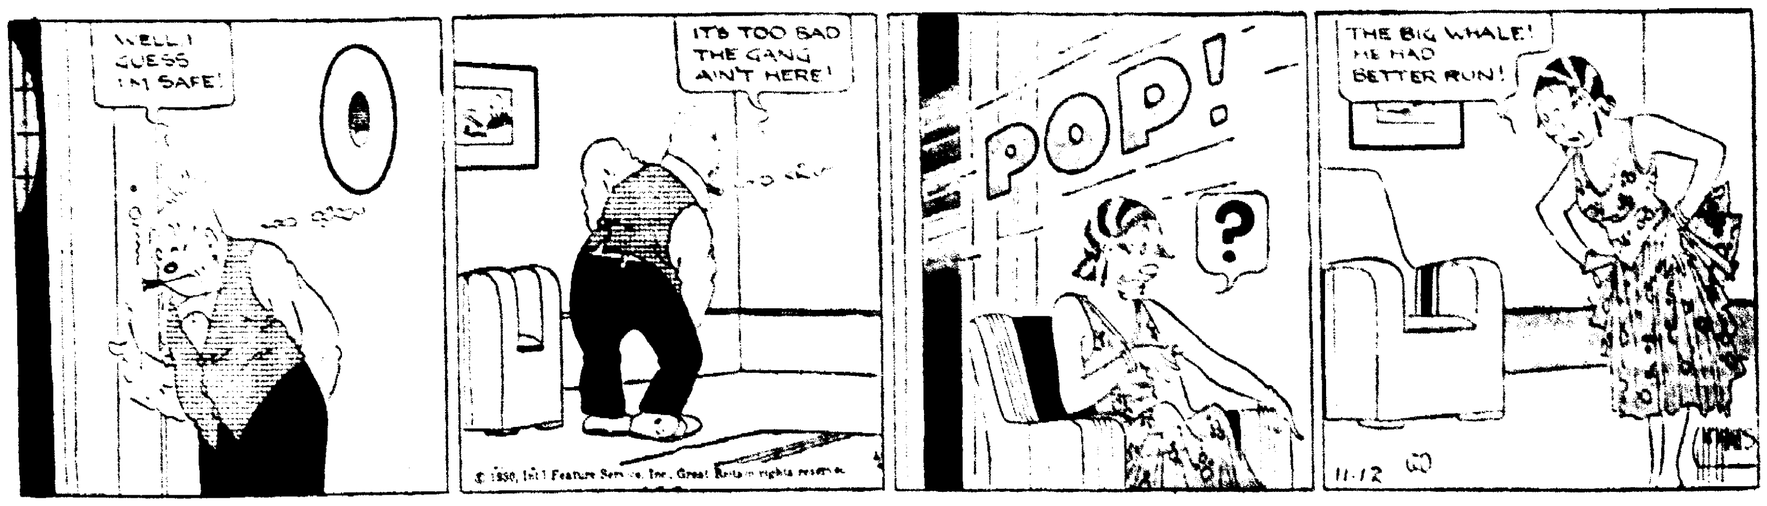

"Hack" greeted his fellow townsmen with his best smile and granted approval for a "real public welcome," which will be staged in the Martinsburg public square Thursday night.

For the benefit of out-of-town customers who may receive tomorrow night's Star too late to plan to attend the opening Sale Day...

CROP DEMAND BOOSTS WHEAT

Reported Delivery Requirements Send Prices in Upward Trend.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 12—Helped by word that farm board allies would require delivery of about 10,000,000 bushels on December wheat contracts, wheat prices took an early upward slant today. Added significance to this announcement was given by the fact there was only 7,200,000 bushels of the contract grade of wheat now on hand in public elevators here. Opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, wheat afterward scored a material upturn all around. Corn started ¾@1¼c down, and subsequently displayed but slight power to rally.

Despite initial upturns, wheat values afterward tumbled back as a result of breaks in quotations of corn and securities. Persistent selling pressure developed in the corn market, owing to bearish aspects of the government crop report. The official estimate of 1930 corn production was much larger than as a rule had been looked for of late.

Under such circumstances, many orders to stop losses on the part of holders of corn future delivery contracts were executed today, and buying orders for corn lacked in Argentina were current, with world shipments of wheat heavy and supplies in consuming countries asserted to be sufficient for immediate requirements.

Oats went lower with corn. Owing to demand from previous sellers, provisions averaged higher despite weakness of hog values and of corn.

ELECTRICITY FIRST AID TO PAPA

By The Associated Press

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—Walking the nursery floor at midnight to soothe a crying infant, is only a memory for the modern father.

Electricity now may do that nocturnal soothing.

The baby daughter of E. S. Darlington, electrical engineer, sleeps in a room separate from that of her parents. But her father's ingenuity has done away with all worry over how baby is passing the night.

A microphone, placed by the baby's crib is connected to a loudspeaker near the father's bed. At the baby's first cry, father is awakened.

HE reaches out, turns on a phonograph beside his bed and a lullaby sounds through a loudspeaker near the baby's crib. When the sound of crying ceases to come from the loudspeaker at his end, father knows the baby is asleep again and he may roll over for another nap himself.

If the lullaby fails to soothe the child, the father suspects that she is hungry or requires some other form of attention. Then, and not until then, must he leave the comfort of his own bed.

SPECIAL SERVICE

Large Attendance at Epworth M. E. Revival.

A large attendance was present at a special service last night at Epworth M. E. church. Dr. C. E. Turley, pastor, preached a revival sermon on "The Royal Legacy." Tonight will be observed as young peoples night and Dr. Turley will preach on "A Religion That Will Meet the Tests of Life."

Thursday night the men and boys of Epworth will be special guests. Dr. Turley's sermon will be on "Christ's Appeal to the Heroic." The services include music by a large chorus choir directed by Knox Dunlop and accompanied at the organ by Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence and at the piano by Mrs. F. A. Boyer.

"The last will and testament of Jesus was to give His peace to His disciples. This gave them the assurance of His perpetual presence, rightness with God, calmness in times of great trial and victory in the hour of Death." Dr. Turley said in his sermon last night.

Sheep Claims Total $122 Here in Week

Sheep claims totaling $122 were filed by three Marion county farmers with county commissioners today through Dale Rhoads, county dog warden.

John Oehler of Green Camp township asks $87 for six sheep killed and five injured. Walter Williams of Claridon township seeks $27 for four sheep killed and one injured, and Harry Lust of Marion township filed a claim of $8 for one killed and one injured.

The warden impounded two dogs last week, his report shows.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENT DEFENDANT

Dan B. O'Brien, whose place of residence is Altoona, Pennsylvania, will take notice that on the 23rd day of October, 1930, Ed. Hilton filed his petition in the Municipal court of Marion, Ohio, praying for a judgment against him for damages in the sum of $159.90, for causing injuries to the automobile of said plaintiff, by the negligent and wrongful act of said defendant. In said action an order for attachment was duly issued at the instance of the plaintiff against the defendant, and duly levied upon the real estate hereinafter described, which is owned by defendant, and it is sought by such attachment to subject to the payment of the plaintiff's said demand the said real estate, which is described as follows:

"Situated in the county of Marion, in the State of Ohio, and in the City of Marion and bounded and described as follows:—An undivided one-half interest in and to the following: Known as being part of the East half of the North-west quarter of Section 32, Township 5 South, Range 15 East, and described as follows: Beginning 47 feet west (and on the north line of Mark Street) at a point where the west line of Patterson Street No. 2, crosses the North line of Mark Street at a stone; thence north parallel with said Patterson Street No. 2, 251 feet to a stake; thence west 45 feet and six inches to a stake; thence south parallel with said Patterson Street No. 2, 251 feet to the north line of Mark Street; thence east on the North line of Mark Street, 45 feet and six inches to the place of beginning, containing 2-5 of an acre, more or less, and in John Ballentine's Second Addition to the Village of Marion, Ohio."

Said cause will be for hearing on and after the 18th day of December, 1930.

Local Feeder Tells of Unusual Success

Praises Wayne Feeds

Giving Wayne Feeds much of the credit for his success, Clyde Hinamon, a local farmer, tells of his feeding experience in a letter to Allied Mills, Inc. He writes as follows:

Marion, Ohio,
Route No. 5,
Oct. 17, 1930.

Allied Mills, Inc.,
Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Gentlemen: I had farrowed this spring 54 head of hogs. I fed these hogs farm grain plus Wayne 40% Hog Supplement. At about 5 months and one week of age the bunch averaged 184 pounds and we hit top market at Marion yards of $11.85. They used about 100 sacks of Wayne feed and a small amount of grain in comparison to the old way of doing the job.

Very truly yours,
Clyde Hinamon.

HEALTH DIRECTOR ON STATE PROGRAM

Dr. N. Sifritt To Discuss Milk Sickness at Columbus Meeting.

Dr. N. Sifritt, city health commissioner, will talk on "Milk Sickness" at the eleventh annual conference of Ohio Health Commissioners to be held under the auspices of the state department of health at the Neil House in Columbus Nov. 18 to 21, inclusive.

Dr. Sifritt is slated to talk on the last afternoon of the meeting which will be held in conjunction with the sixth annual conference of the Ohio society of Sanitarians. He was selected to talk on milk sickness since the rare malady attacked a Marion county family last summer, causing the death of one member and the serious illness of others.

Several city nurses probably will attend the meeting, it is reported.

AUDITOR STARTS ON COUNTY TAX RATES

Work Held by Election, Due to Special Issues Before Voters.

Work in figuring tax rates for the 45 political subdivisions in Marion county is being carried on this week in the office of County Auditor Earl E. Thomas.

The tax rate figures were held up until the action of voters last week on numerous levies in the city and county. Until the levies were acted upon, it was impossible to work on the tax rates since every one of the subdivisions was affected by at least the county road levy.

The rates are being worked out on the basis of budgets submitted by the subdivisions several months ago. They are expected to be completed this week, according to Thomas, in order that the districts may plan the expenditure of finances to be received from the December tax collection.

KENTON SCOUT MAY GET HEROISM MEDAL

Russell Crow in Line for Honor After Rescuing Youth from Pool.

As a reward for the rescuing Russell Crow from the swimming pool in Camp Idlewild near Kenton recently, Lester Ward of Kenton is in line for a medal of honor given by the Boy Scouts of America, Scout Executive W. C. Brown said today. Ward rescued the 14-year-old boy from the swimming pool and worked with him for eight minutes to revive him from drowning.

Brown said today that he would personally present the application for the medal of honor to the Boy Scout headquarters in New York City Saturday.

The Crow youth had gone wading in the pool according to Brown and had walked beyond his depth. After going under twice, Ward, a scoutmaster of Kenton, dived in and pulled him out and then revived him.

GALION, Nov. 12—Mrs. Elizabeth Reitz Mueller, 82, the oldest member of the Reformed Missionary society here, died at her home last night. She had been ill but two days.

Rev. R. R. Elliker will have charge of funeral services in the home Friday at 2:30 p. m. Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery.

She was born in Germany Dec. 18, 1847 and came to America when 16 years old. She settled in Easton, Pa., where she was married to John J. Mueller. He died in 1913. Six children survive, Charles, Louis, Grover, John and Lily at home and G. F. Mueller of Galion.

Cardington Class Holds Social Meeting Here

The Upstream class of the Cardington M. E. church met for a social time last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ellis of 458 Forest street. Mrs. Ellis is a former member of the class. Forty were seated at a table for a chicken supper. The evening was spent with a program of readings, recitations, solos, and other forms of entertainment.

MODEL '55 $99.50

A STARTLING VALUE IN FINE WASHERS

UNTIL you see the new Haag 55, you won't realize what a really fine washer can be bought for less than a hundred dollars.

Women tell us that the new model does better work in less time than other makes costing half again as much.

You can trust the new Haag 55 to do all your washing—every week—without damage to fabrics or buttons. It's a thorough worker—a loyal one—an inexpensive one.

If you have been worrying along with an old style washer—or if you have been doing your washing by the wearisome tiring hand-method—you owe it to yourself to see this amazing new machine. Why not come in to our store today or tomorrow and let us show you how the Haag 55 will save your time, labor, clothes and money?

LA RUE SCHOOLS FACE SHORT TERM IN 1931

Defeat of School Levy To Cut $12,000 from Income for Year.

LaRue schools face the unpleasant prospect of a short term beginning in September, 1931, following defeat of a three mill levy for that school in the last election.

The levy has been in effect for 10 years, expiring last year. Voters in the LaRue school district refused to renew the levy for another five years.

The levy represented approximately one third of the annual school income of $38,000. Its defeat will curtain the income $12,000 each year.

Members of the LaRue board of education are anxiously awaiting action of the next legislature on Ohio's tax situation. The legislature, probably at a special session, will revamp the Ohio taxing setup under the terms of a constitution amendment passed recently.

It is hoped that the new tax system might give the district an opportunity to obtain more funds in order to operate a full term next year.

Defeat of the levy will have practically no effect on the present school term. Although the schools will run short of funds after Jan. 1, a sufficient amount to complete the school year term can be obtained in an advance draw on money the school would ordinarily receive in September of 1931.

Martel News

MARTEL—The Mary Martha Class of the Martel M. E. Sunday school was entertained at the home of Mrs. M. O. Wilkins, Wednesday night. Mrs. H. M. Reed called the meeting to order. Mrs. Wilkins conducted the devotionals. Mrs. Hoffman gave a review on China and Mrs. Neil Werrick had charge of a contest won by Mrs. William Neff. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Werrick. The next meeting will be held the first Wednesday night in December at the home of Mrs. A. S. Downs.

MARATHON PASSES 1430 HOUR MARK

Five Couples and Two Solo Dancers in Crystal Lake Contest.

The dance marathon at Crystal Lake park today passed the 1430 hour mark. In addition to the large number of daily visitors dozens of letters are sent to the contestants by radio listeners, who hear the daily half hour broadcast from 6:15 to 6:45 p. m. each day over radio station WAIU.

Five couples and two solos remain in the contest. All are in good physical condition, the periodical examination of the dancers reveal. Most of the dancers have gained between 10 and 15 pounds as a result of regular meals and the regular 11 minute rest periods each hour. Dancers eat eight meals a day, or one meal every three hours.

Those remaining in the contest are: Bob Good of Toledo, dancing with Eleanor Maynhart of Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Dick Peters of Dayton dancing with Gladys Casey of Dayton; Ralph Messler of Huntington, Ind., dancing with Melvina Burgess of Cincinnati; Jack Moore of Columbus dancing with Rosemary Stanley of 721 Bennett street, Marion; Kenneth Reeves of Cleveland dancing with Nora Terhune of Dayton; Alice Krug of Dayton and Emma Alwes of Ft. Wayne, Ind., dancing solos.

Nurses take temperature and pulse readings twice daily, and remove contestants who show signs of physical weakness. The dancers are also examined periodically by Dr. C. J. Altmaier.

Farm Group Plans Thanksgiving Program and Social for Nov. 20.

Walter Klingel was elected master for the sixth consecutive year at the meeting of Whetstone grange No. 1953 Monday night at the grange hall southeast of the city. Other officers elected were Ralph Klingel, overseer, Mrs. Ernest Klingel, lecturer, Ernest Klingel, steward, Mrs. Ernest Rech, chaplain, Miss Caroline Beckel, secretary, Daniel Schlecht, gatekeeper, Miss Mildred Klingel, Ceres, Miss Elizabeth Rech, Flora, Miss Ida Klingel, Pomona, Miss Alma Beck, treasurer, Ernest Rech, business agent, and C. W. Jacoby, legislative agent.

Plans were made for a box and pie social to be held Nov. 20 when a Thanksgiving program will be given. The next regular meeting will be Nov. 18.

Canby Lodge Approves Children's Health Plan

Canby Lodge No. 51, Knights of Pythias, indorsed a tentative movement sponsored by the supreme lodge, of establishing health centers or preventoriums for children who are on the border line of invalidism, at a meeting last night in K. of P. hall.

The social committee announced a benefit euchre party next Thursday night and a public dance Saturday night, Nov. 29. C. E. Willoughby, Henry H. O'Dowd and U. F. Zachman were appointed a committee to arrange for a joint social with Marion Lodge No. 402, in the near future.

The lodge has arranged a euchre contest with Scioto Lodge No. 702 of Green Camp. The first game of the contest will be played Nov. 18. The rank of page will be conferred at a meeting Tuesday night. Canby lodge will also confer the rank of page at a county meeting at Prospect Nov. 20.

REPUBLICAN PARTY FACED WITH SPLIT

Britten Demands Replacement of Fess as National Committee Head.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Two prominent Republican anti-prohibitionists were joined today in open opposition to the expressed dry views of their party's national campaign.

Senator Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Republican national committee was made the target of a vigorous attack by Representative Britten of Illinois and former Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York.

Britten demanded the selection of another chairman if, he said, Senator Fess is so blind or so intolerant that he "can not analyze the desires of millions of voters in progressive northern states."

Wadsworth spoke of a split in the party and asked: "What kind of a split is better, a split caused by a straight-out manly declaration on the fundamental importance of repeal or a split caused by a half-hearted and transparently insincere adherence to prohibition?"

Wets Hold Future

Leaving the Democratic South out of future Republican calculations, Britten said, the success of the party is dependent upon its success in "such wet Republican states as New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Ohio," together with "many smaller wet Republican states."

Fess' leadership, he added, had been "colorless and void of the slightest comprehension of political strategy." He termed it a "leadership which has brought defeat and urged an immediate meeting of the national committee for a discussion of the best interests of the party.

President Hoover's law enforcement commission convened today to continue work on its prohibition report.

The meeting as usual was executive, and Chairman Wickersham stood on his announcement of a few days ago that all reports speculating on the commission's findings were "guesses."

SOCIAL MEET PLANNED

Plans were made for a social meeting for members and their families Thursday night at the hall at a meeting of the Red Men last night following their participation in the Armistice day parade. Routine business was transacted. The next regular meeting will be in one week.

"J. HAM" STILL DAPPER AT 67

CHICAGO—When the Chesterfield of President Wilson's wartime Democratic family, James Hamilton Lewis, goes back to the United States senate he will find few of that clan still wearing the togs.

Those who served under his whip in the glamorous war years will find him grayer now. Some of the sting is gone from his tongue, and some of the fire from his leadership.

But it is the same stylish dresser, the same courteous individual, and his voice still carries the silver honeyed tones as of old.

Lewis, the Democrat in defeating Ruth Hanna McCormick, the Republican for the Illinois senate seat ended a cycle of campaigns and personages begun 12 years ago. Then he was defeated by Medill McCormick, husband of his opponent this year.

She "Evened Up."

Charles S. Deneen eliminated McCormick in the primary six years later, and last spring Mrs. McCormick won over Deneen.

A roll call of those whom Lewis knew when he was the Democratic whip—political friends and foes—would bring but few responses.

Woodrow Wilson—Oscar W. Underwood—Henry Cabot Lodge—Warren G. Harding—Boies Penrose—Robert M. LaFollette—Charles Culberson, all are dead.

James Reed has retired to private life. So has Harry New, and Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Albert Fall, Irvin Lenroot and Hoke Smith.

There are a few of the old-timers to greet "J. Ham," however—James Watson, George Norris, Key Pittman, Lee Overman, Charles McNary.

Born in Virginia

Lewis, a Virginian by birth, now is 67 years old. He grew up in Georgia—motherless, as she died at his birth. His father was a Confederate veteran.

James Hamilton went about as far west as possible—Washington—to seek his fortunes. He worked as a dock laborer to study law. When he returned to Georgia to marry Miss Rose Lawton Douglas he carried a bag of gold coins to pay off creditors.

Lewis served in the Washington legislature and went to congress from that state. He served in the Spanish-American war, emerging as a colonel. In 1903 he moved to Chicago and nine years later Illinois sent him to the senate.

In Bloom of Youth

Tom B. "Czar" Reed was the house speaker when Lewis first went to Washington. He dubbed the youngster "the garrulous rainbow." One writer described him this way:

"Over everything, even as the sun in the sky, looms the whiskers of Jim Ham—vast, opalescent, here a shred of pink and there a somber russet! now shimmering as a golden field of wheat, anon bristling red and angry."

But Lewis had a comeback. He

James Hamilton Lewis, still spry at 67, appears as dapper now as he did a dozen years ago, when he was democratic whip in the United States senate.

once told a correspondent, "there is no relationship between statesmanship and apparel, sir."

Although Lewis devoted the early years of his attorneyship to criminal cases, of later years all his work has been as a corporation lawyer.

Lewis' dress, his diction, his mannerisms are the same whether he be addressing a Gold Coast delegation or a stockyards crowd. Always the spats, the wing collar, snowy linen, cane and gloves.

His View on Suffrage

"Sir, I repeat, I shall lose more than any man I know on this floor, for if this amendment should pass now in my state the majority of women would vote overwhelmingly against me for any office to which I undertook to aspire."

The speaker was Lewis. The occasion was the senate's debate in 1918 on women's suffrage.

And his last campaign was to some extent a test of that. Two women, Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, opposed him. Lewis won by approximately 700,000 votes.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

This is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

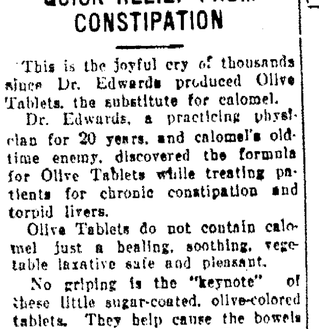

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel just a healing, soothing, vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

The Stars Say---

For Thursday, Nov. 13

ACCORDING to the lunar transits in operation on this day there may be many problems and complications, with dangers to employment and a critical state of affairs where letters, publishings, writings, contracts and promotions are concerned, attended by many delays and anxieties. Yet the solar beam toward Jupiter, this powerful celestial pair being in trine aspect, may be moved to overcome all adversities and conflicts, especially since Jupiter also has the assistance of the moon to translate its friendliness.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year in which there may be many adverse and conflicting situations to overcome, but they are assured of the powerful assistance of Sol trine Jupiter and Luna sextile Jupiter, a combination to be counted upon as "eleventh hour friends." It is a time for transcending difficulties.

A child born on this day may be capable and ambitious, but may have traits of irresponsibility, extravagance and self-indulgence to overcome in order to attain its ambitions and reach position in life.

A New York jury denied Timothy J Mara the $526,812 42 he sought to secure from Gene Tunney, or any part thereof, which is just as well. It's high time that our great artists will no longer be forced to submit to split-ups

Under old blue laws one resident of Baltimore was fined for painting some window frames in his home last Sunday and another was arrested there for driving two nails in a clothes horse the same day, while a Hoosier farmer was fined for hunting, Sunday, on his own land. In the face of all the crimes which are going unpunished, isn't the blue law business being overdone?

Bearing on the pledge of cooperation by the seven Democratic leaders, Senator George H Moses, chairman of the Republican senatorial committee, says he fears "the Democrats bearing gifts." The proposition, for a fact, is a bit remindful of that horse incident reported by Vergil.

Assailing players' "subsidies" and coaches' "sinecures," the University of Pennsylvania alumni declares that college football verges on to a "racket." They must have been reading the Saturday Evening Post.

The Japanese delegation in Geneva refused to agree to a plan for a uniform period of compulsory military training, asserting that "Japan can not reduce the period of service much owing to the varying character of our troops. The mountaineers with hairy ears refuse to wear boots and the fishermen will not sleep in iron bedsteads because the steel springs tickle them." We confess that we do not get the connection, but then, one alibi is probably just as good as another.

Taking the city authorities in the spirit of their announcement regarding the burning of leaves, citizens started in Monday evening to start leaf fires with sufficient enthusiasm to give something of a line on what the smoke conditions will be when the burning of leaves becomes general throughout the city.

In the news report of the proceedings at Monday night's meeting of the city council, Assistant General Manager Tharpe, of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, was credited with having declared that the recent schedule of prices submitted by the company was the lowest that Marion will be offered, either by the company or the utilities commission Is Mr Tharpe intimating that the state utilities commission has given his company an advance tip on what its finding will be?

Christmas Trees.

In a few weeks more approximately 4,000,000 little evergreen trees will be on their way to market. Countless other millions of little evergreen trees will remain at home

The spectacle of thousands of evergreen trees stacked in a pile ready to be purchased to liven the home during the Christmas season never fails to arouse the comment that the Christmas-tree habit is ruining American forests There are certain facts however which refute this view

While it is true that Christmas trees will be cut all the way from the state of Washington to Maine in the next few weeks for shipment, they will be cut according to approved methods of forestry The bulk of the trees will be the "trim" from young stands of timber, the weaker, smaller trees which would be removed anyway to make room for their more vigorous brothers. To people who pay for every piece of shrubbery and every tree placed in their yards, this seems wasteful, to the forestry expert it is part of the business He regards the Christmas-tree habit as a fortunate thing, since it creates a market for what, otherwise, would be waste timber. Any one who doubts this to be so will be convinced by the difficulty he encounters in trying to buy a perfect tree at Christmas time. Those which are not lopsided or otherwise malformed are usually the tops out of larger trees that have been used for lumber.

Two other sources of Christmas trees exist in addition to the one described Many of the trees are from nurseries, which specialize in the Christmas tree trade, planting and cutting the evergreens as they attain a sufficient growth. Another source of trees is land upon which young trees have encroached The land is cleared before Christmas, and the trees thus obtained are sold in the Christmas market

Intelligent supervision by state and national forestry officials has made the Christmas tree business a valuable by-product of scientific forestry. Christmas trees are the source of considerable income and of a seasonal pleasure that nothing else could adequately replace.

That Anti-Soviet Plot Story.

The story sent out from Moscow telling of the uncovering there of a "gigantic" plot looking to the overthrowing of the soviet government of Russia is interesting beyond the ordinary for the reason that it dovetails right in with recent stories of the growing discontent of the masses of Russia with the despotism of bolshevik rule.

As the story goes Poland the Ukraine Roumania, Lithuania Finland, Latvia and Estonia are combining to wage war on Russia. France is to provide the arms and ammunition and this, with White Russian accessions there will be an army of 1,000,000 trained and fully-equipped fighting men ready to invade Russia by way of Poland Great Britain is to send fleets into the Black sea and the Baltic, to take over the Crimea and Leningrad, while an army of White Russians will march against Moscow, gathering to its standards the dissatisfied Russian peasantry, enroute

The most fantastic phase of the story is that among the conspirators are Raymond Poincare and Aristide Briand, of France, Sir Henri Deterding the British oil magnate, Lord Winston Churchill of Britain, and notable figures of Poland Roumania, Finland and the other lands in juxtaposition to Russia involved in the plot

The conditions facing bolshevik rule must be desperate indeed when the soviet government feels the necessity for spreading so absurd a tale of a contemplated invasion of Russia in the hope of rekindling a deadened feeling of nationalism in the scores of millions who have been its dupes and still are the victims of its abuses

The only serious omission in the Moscow story to make it even more ridiculous than it is in its present form is the failure of the soviet government to charge that the funds to carry on the invasion are to be supplied by "capitalistic America" How the bolsheviki ever happened to overlook a charge such as this is the mystery of mysteries

The Santa Fe and Western Pacific railroads will inaugurate, January 1, a six-months trial of the European plan of selling three classes of fares. Tickets at existing fares will be good in standard sleeping cars on all trains; one way tourist fares, good for use in tourist sleepers, will be sold at twenty per cent. less, and one-way coach fares still twenty per cent. lower than tourist tickets. It will be interesting to know how the Americanized European system works here.

The Armistice Day Parade.

In the opinion of this newspaper, last night's parade was the most impressive which has marked any anniversary of Armistice day with the exception of that of the first. There was an unusual turnout of veterans and of other organizations, an adequate number of bands and drum corps, some of the floats were very good and it moved promptly on schedule and proceeded over the line of march without a hitch. In fact, the entire observance of the anniversary was far beyond the ordinary, the presence of John A. Elden, of Cleveland, commander of the American Legion of Ohio, doing much to add to the interest of the day.

To this paper, however, one of the most striking features in connection with last night's event, although not a part of it, was the display of automobiles parked in streets leading and adjacent to the up-town business section There were literally miles of them parked by those who drove from their homes in this city or from the surrounding agricultural districts. Truly, it was a marked exposition of the fact that America is practically awheel, for the situation here in Marion and vicinity is doubtless duplicated all over the country—an exposition the more marked coming as it did at a time when financial depression and business and industrial recession combine to constitute the major theme of everyday discussion.

A citizen of London is being held charged with the murder of a "person unknown," the incinerated remains of a man having been found in the debris of the burned car of the Londoner. Just a bit out of the ordinary, but the British in their pursuit of crime are never unwilling to resort to the extraordinary if by so doing they can fasten a crime upon the guilty.

Anne Nichols suit for $3,000,000 against Universal Pictures, in which she charged that "The Cohens and the Kelleys" was an infringement on the copyright of "Abie's Irish Rose," has gone against her As indifferent as the most of it was it is mighty hard to understand why Miss Nichols should seek to link her money maker, even by a charge of plagiarism, with "The Cohens and the Kelleys"

General Tasker H. Bliss.

General Tasker H Bliss, who died in Washington Sunday aged seventy-six, served his country faithfully and well for half a century.

It has been said of General Bliss that he lived his life in the fulfilment of the motto of West Point "Duty Honor Country." What soldier could ask for finer tribute after his passing than this?

But the general was more than a professional soldier of high rank the highest attainable rank under the laws of our land—although his soldiery attainments were such that his time of service was extended that the utmost advantage might be taken of them To him were committed many civilian duties, all of which he performed with distinction alike to himself and his country Possibly they will not be recalled with the vividness of his service in the allied conference in France or of that he rendered as counselor and advisor in gatherings of international moment since the World war, but they must be reckoned in measuring the versatile abilities of this soldier who has gone

The head of the protective department of the American Bankers association told a gathering of bankers in Minneapolis that the mounting drain on banks caused by the activities of hold-up men, yeggs forgers and other crooks constituted one of the greatest menaces of modern civilization. What else can be expected when we enact laws to lessen the quality of our official personnel and other laws which work to finance and encourage crime?

A GOOD JOKE.

Editorial Opinion.

GOING TOO FAR.

The Princeton discipline committee establishes a precedent which it is hoped, will be followed elsewhere when it imposes severe penalties on some forty students who participated in football riots there.

Undergraduates for years have somehow assumed that they constitute a privileged class Many of their acts, to use the language of Dean Christian Gauss, of Princeton, have been "downright muckerism." But because they were the acts of college students police have been slow to interfere, and the disciplinary measures imposed by the colleges have been mild.

From Dean Gauss' own statement may be gathered a fair idea of some of the things the Princeton students were guilty of doing. It warns "that any one hereafter found guilty of inciting to riot or of blockading traffic, obstructing highways, interfering with or attempting to destroy the property of private citizens or of the university will be liable to dismissal"

Suspensions imposed by the committee on discipline are held by the Daily Princetonian to be "inexplicably and disproportionately severe." The college publication does not condone the acts of the students, but feels the committee could have accomplished the same ends by less rigorous measures.

It was time long ago that undergraduate bodies learned to hold their football enthusiasm within reasonable limits. Every season brings its series of incidents similar to that at Princeton a week ago, all of them entirely unwarranted and embarrassing to university communities.

No one will criticize the hilarity that goes ordinarily with college life. A generous amount of horseplay may be good for the undergraduate soul. But when it goes to the extreme of property destruction it demands stern measures of discipline —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Allen G. Thurman's Education.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

When Allen G. Thurman was a member of the United States senate, he was regarded as one of the most scholarly men in that body—a strange fact when it is known that he never had the privilege of attending a college or any educational institution higher than the Chillicothe academy of his day. The education of young Thurman as well as of his brother, William Allen, fell to the hands of Mrs. Thurman, who was a well-educated woman.

It was one of the early trials of Allen G. Thurman's life when he found that the young men with whom he had been attending the academy at Chillicothe were about to go away to college and he realized that, because of the financial condition of his people, he would not be able to go with them. An old resident of Chillicothe tells this story of the matter: Completely dejected, young Thurman sought the burying ground of the old Presbyterian church, where among the quiet shades he threw himself down on the grass to give vent to his feelings.

There he was found by a citizen of Chillicothe, who inquired as to the cause of the boy's distress, but before he had a chance to console him, he was pleased to see the boy brush aside his tears and declare that if his former companions learned more in college than he did at home they would have to work hard for it

Neighbors noticed that from that time forth there was a light in the Thurman home late in the night. With the aid of his mother he was trying to make up for the lack of college opportunities. He did this and more, for in addition he acquired the habit of study and self-education which remained with him through life In a great degree, therefore, Judge Thurman was a self-educated man.

He Is the Limit.

"Gobbling" Food Is Bad.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Last summer we entertained at our home two sisters, old friends of ours. There were other guests, so the table was delightfully crowded.

You know what a lot of chaffing and laughing takes place when congenial friends meet at dinner. Everything is made the subject of jest and merriment.

One of the sisters I mentioned was positively the most deliberate eater I ever met. She was always the last of the group to finish a course and, since some of the young people were eager always to get away for other pleasures, you can imagine the teasing this good lady received

All this did not ruffle our friend one particle "I honor my food," she said. Invariably, when urged to hurry, the reply was. "No, I honor my food."

Do you know that statement impressed me greatly.

Think about it yourself. In many respects eating is the most important thing a human being does Yet how carelessly, how neglectfully we attend to the most pressing duty in our daily lives!

If we would honor the food and honor the meal we would be better off by a great deal We have been taught to ask God's blessing on the food. After giving thanks for it really we are inconsistent if we slight or bolt the meal We should dignify the occasion, give respect to what we eat—in short, honor our food.

It isn't fair to the good housewife to rush through the dishes she has prepared in the hot kitchen. Many a mother must feel sad when a particularly choice combination is tossed into the stomach of the family.

Deliberation in eating is largely a matter of habit. Too often "gobbling" the food is the result of bad training. The children must be taught to eat as they should.

Let no one forget that digestion begins in the mouth. Much of what we eat is starchy in its nature. To care for starch properly there should be mixed with it a quantity of saliva. To guarantee this mixture there must be thorough chewing.

Really it is a grave mistake to bolt the food The practice leads to indigestion.

Unconsciously I used the correct words. "grave mistake." Carlyle, you will recall, said "man digs his grave with his teeth" Bad eating habits have filled many graves.

We will do well to follow the example of my friend. When we learn to honor our food we shall have better health. With better health the chance of long life is increased

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

Good Reader Q—What causes a cracking in the arm?

2—Would omitting breakfast help one to reduce?

3—Are tomatoes, lean meats, potatoes or coffee particularly fattening?

A—Probably due to a lack of synovial fluid around the joint Massage and heat should give relief. Be sure there is no rheumatic tendency.

2—It may, but it would be wise to eat three meals daily, restricting the sweets and starches and keeping the system in proper working order.

3—Potatoes are fattening, but the other foods eaten or taken in moderation should not add to the weight

Science and Crime.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

In criminology the trend is distinctly in the direction away from the old-fashioned application of the Mosaic law in the treatment of criminals The great problem in the handling of the criminal is not what punishment should be administered, but how can we reform him and make him a useful member of society. In his famous romance [illegible] of Erewhon, according to Samuel Butler, regarded crime as a disease Edward Carpenter wrote a book entitled "Civilization: Its Cause and Cure" [illegible] be fully justified in writing [illegible] cause and cure

Certainly not all crime can be cured Civilization, alas, [illegible] certain forms of degeneration [illegible] pay for higher organization. Nervous diseases, neuroses, perverted sex impulses [illegible] tendencies—these and like [illegible] accompaniments of the nerve strain of a highly tense complex organization which we [illegible] society.

Every community [illegible] has its own code Towns, villages [illegible] differ in this respect [illegible] are intensively narrow, puritanical, [illegible] in their moral outlook Others are liberal and cosmopolitan in their code, following the doctrine of laissez faire and laissez aller In like manner countries have their particular [illegible] and individual court procedure [illegible] by long-established custom and national psychology

In France for example, an atmosphere of the most intense emotion rather than an air of quietude and reflection is permitted to invade the court room [illegible] are freely tried by the press without condemnation or rebuke from the constituted guardians of the law Passional crimes give rise to great trials which are at once thrilling spectacles and profoundly moving events The French dramatize the legal profession [illegible] being a trait of the national psychology

In this country especially in some of our larger cities the judges and police are both suspect. There are constant scandals cropping out among legally constituted guardians of public safety There are periodical house-cleanings, especially of the police force From time to time, as just now in one of our great cities, judges themselves are discovered to be corrupt and in league with criminals and leaders of the underworld Citizens charged with crime find themselves the innocent victims of what is known as a "frame up," false evidence faked by unscrupulous lawyers or corrupt policemen

The English courts are less subject to criticism than those of other countries The laws are so framed as not to permit long delays There is something closely akin to a dispassionate pursuit of truth in the courtroom. There is a strong bias in favor of the accused, where doubt warrants The philosophy in this procedure is to give every accused person better than an even chance to escape conviction Better that four guilty persons should go free than that one innocent person should be unjustly condemned

The great vogue of the detective story nowadays is explained on the ground that the public is not so much interested in the brutal and abhorrent facts of crime, as in the scientific methods employed in its detection Dr. Locard, of the criminal laboratory of Lyons, France, has developed two new sciences. graphometry, or accurate methods of detecting forgery; and poroscopy, which is the application of the finger-print system to the pores of the hand, which are believed to be unique in every individual Mechanical devices have long been in use for measuring involuntary acceleration of the pulse, for criminals under police examination. The use of the drug scopolamin has means of eliminating false testimony and confrequently been tried in this country, as a fession George Godwin, in his little book "Cain," says "The development of these and similar devices will eventually eliminate most possibilities of error, in the opinion of those who are advocating their more extensive use." —Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, Nov. 12—O. Henry called [illegible] "the unloved romanticists" They are a vast army of shabbily genteel dreamers of romance chained to high stools, dark [illegible] room and other inconspicuous posts They [illegible] hall bed-rooms, up many flights and down the end of the hall.

They are devotees of love-lorn columns [illegible] two-penny thrills of the "Millionaire [illegible] Nest" headlines in tabloids. Respectable living, they have clutched at success [illegible] and make the best of a rather fusty [illegible] theaters, they are the last of the gallery [illegible]

Almost every one of them can recite [illegible] complete history of every screen idol When a Hollywood star stumbles they are [illegible] fenders who rush avidly to defense [illegible] magazines and movie columns They stand in the wind and rain at cinema openings

When the reigning "America's Sweetheart" trips out of a platinum limousine [illegible] with admiration and will remain on [illegible] with eyes ever shining and fervid [illegible] departs Without such worshippers [illegible] would be no picture palaces, tabloids [illegible] cents-a-dance halls.

The men are the type who leave their houses every morning and return [illegible] ning with the regularity of a clock They are sticklers for overshoes, umbrellas [illegible] pocket pencil clips and ride-the-pony [illegible] rooms Outwardly prosaic, inwardly [illegible] ment with stuff of glamorous dreams.

The ladies are quietly dressed and [illegible] ingly sedate and in offices and work [illegible] say high in efficiency. It is difficult [illegible] agine them constantly indulging [illegible] dreams. Yet they form the bulk of [illegible] diences that determine the five figure [illegible] ar es of the Conrad Nagels.

It is axiomatic "the unloved romanticists seldom marry Nor do they whimper [illegible] isolation All they want is their dreams [illegible] them the fair finger of romance is beckoning through the gloom and pointing to the illusive mirage. Or something

The distinctly vexatious manners of [illegible] box office men has mellowed. One no longer stifles an urge to reach in and tweak their beezers. They look you in the eye instead of making you wait while they tell the telephone girl about the party they were on last night Ticket-sellers long overlooked a big bet in expressing discourtesy. Few jobs offer such promising contacts with people worth while George White is the politest box office man in town and doesn't have to be.

On lower Fourth avenue are bookstalls [illegible] mindful of those sauntering haunts in the [illegible] shine of "Left Bank" quays of Paris. [illegible] ously dilapidated tomes along with soiled [illegible] der volumes are racked and sold for prices ranging from ten to thirty-five cents. Often one comes upon some autographed treasure as I did at dusk yesterday—a copy of "White Light Nights" by O. O. McIntyre inscribed [illegible] a faithful Ritz bell boy six years ago and now offered at fifteen cents. Elderly gentlemen constantly prowl around the stalls furtively sneaking a page here and there from the classics.

Sunday morning flower sellers roaming Delancey street, the East Side Fifth avenue, add offer an old world touch. They sell [illegible] bouquets for a dime to young swains who are "girling" on the Sabbath. Swains suggest [illegible] escaped comedians from "The Burgomeister."

Delancey street kosher cafes bristle with activity, too, Sunday evenings. The late W Hogg used to take me there for Sunday dinner, forcing me to stand at a wall counter while he parked himself at a table—the table charge being five cents per person extra How [illegible] gorged on gefelte fisch! And what [illegible] laughs!

The Passion Play.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

In the minds of most people Oberammergau and the "Passion Play" are irrevocably connected. They look upon the little village in the Bavarian Alps as the theater which has housed the longest run the theatrical world has ever known.

The premiere of the "Passion Play" took place in the year 1633, but the real [illegible] of the play, the germinating of the idea, began as far back as 1329. In that year the Emperor Ludwig, of Bavaria, was returning from [illegible] at the head of his army. He carried with [illegible] an alabaster figure of the Virgin [illegible] In his journey through the mountains [illegible] den—the emperor insisted upon [illegible] precious relic himself—became [illegible] his horse, which sank to its knees [illegible] looked upon this as a sign from [illegible] vowed to found a monastery upon [illegible] In this way grew up the now famous [illegible] of "Our Lady of Ettal"

Ettal, being near Oberammergau, [illegible] only natural that the monks of Ettal [illegible] take over the direction of the artistic [illegible] the little village. It was only natural [illegible] under such guidance, the [illegible] lagers should take on a [illegible] their folklore plays which [illegible] dation for the "Passion Play" of today when a great and devastating [illegible] the country in 1633, it was [illegible] when the scourge had subsided [illegible] matic and spiritual sides should [illegible] play which would be in the nature of a thanksgiving Thus the "Passion Play" was born

Simple and ingenuous are these [illegible] who play all the parts in their [illegible] ten years. The whole reading world [illegible] its attention drawn to Anton Lang [illegible] years the Christus, but now too [illegible] the strain, for many years [illegible] calendar, although actually Anton [illegible] the part but three times, in 1900, [illegible] This year another Lang, Alois, [illegible] tive, took up the role, while Anton [illegible] the prologue.

This year saw a new portrayer of [illegible] the Virgin Mary. The Virgin of [illegible] married and, therefore, disqualified [illegible] the part. Fraulein Anny Rutz, [illegible] life is a clerk in the municipal office [illegible] ammergau was given the part.

Since 1680 there has been only [illegible] ruption in the ten-year periods [illegible] the presentation of the play. That was 1920, when the World war found the [illegible] unready for it. However, it was given [illegible] and this year, the 250th presentation found "Passion Play" in Oberammergau in the flower of its merited popularity.

Now, Wouldn't This Jar You?

The country escapes a petticoat senator [illegible] gets a pajama one that is much worse.—Akron Journal.

WITNESS IN SLAYING OF MAN DISAPPEARS

Police Seek Woman Who Saw Marion Insurance Salesman Killed.

Columbus police today were conducting a statewide search for Mrs Martha Sheldon proprietor of the 'Hello World' confectionery in that city where Louis A Sherman, Marion and Columbus insurance salesman, was shot to death last April 8.

The woman was to be one of the principal witnesses for the state in the trial next Monday of John Gehring, charged with the Sherman murder. She was in the rear of the confectionery the night Sherman was slain

Both Gehring and Orris Goodyear are charged with the murder, both having confessed that Sherman was shot when they attempted to rob the store, police say stars, were represented by Mr and Mrs Harry Williams of Prospect and the characterization won them a $5 prize Clarence and Rose Kinnert of 368 Windsor street came in for a similar prize for their characterization of Maggie and Jiggs while little Miss Gloria Lois Pisbennett, 5 of Upper Sandusky, won a $2.50 prize for her impersonation of Cupid

Amos 'n' Andy Win

The characterization of Andy Gump won the judges approval for a $5 prize, but the contestant failed to put in an appearance at the reviewing stand after the parade He may obtain his prize from Probate Judge Oscar Gast, chairman of the Armistice day committee

A front line trench with four soldiers awaiting the signal to go over the top was adjudged the winner of the cup for the best historical float Company B, 166th Ohio Infantry was the recipient of the award The cup for the best industrial float went to the Marion Lumber Co

Marion county granges comprised one of the biggest units in the parade Every grange in the county was represented and a total of more than 1,000 persons marched behind the banners of their respective granges Fraternal organizations, too, added hundreds of persons to the list of marchers.

Ex-service men of the World war and Spanish war made up the bigger part of the first division, which was led by the Eagles band and drum corps National guardsmen and Boy Scouts also were included in the unit which was led by the Grand Prairie township band

Grangers March

Granges and fraternal organizations marched in the second division and the third division was made up of public and parochial students, led by the Harding High school band. Costumed marchers and contestants for prizes were in this division.

Floats and motor vehicles, led by the 45-piece Future Farmers of America band, comprised the fourth and last division

City police and firemen, together with city officials and the grand marshal and his staff, were at the head of the parade.

The parade was the feature of the day's Armistice Day celebration of Bird-McGinnis post of the American Legion. Other features of the program were an address over the cenotaph of the Unknown Soldier on the courthouse esplanade at 11 a. m. by John A. Elden, state Legion commander, who later spoke before the Rotary club and Legionnaires at a luncheon in Hotel Harding.

The electrically-lighted flag on the south wall of the courthouse was on display during the parade.

AMERICANS that have "done Europe' will learn with sadness that the house of Munroe & Co has closed its doors Several generations of Americans have made the bank their headquarters in Paris, and thousands that knew no other French knew Sept Rue Scribe, which was the old address, or Quatre Rue Ventadour, the address just closed.

The ill fortune of the old American house in Paris is part of an alarming crumbling process in French banking institutions that has suddenly taken France by surprise

The French however, are resourceful, thrifty, entirely beyond our conception of thrift, and the French government will know how to stabilize its financial institutions.

STILL IN DOUBT

Official Count Needed to Decide Lieutenant Governor Contest.

By United Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12—The question of whether William G. Pickrel of Dayton, Democrat, defeated Lieut. Governor John T Brown, Republican of Mechanicsburg, for lieutenant-governor, will not be known definitely until every county in the state has formally certified its returns, the secretary of state's office reiterated today.

Pickrel, on the basis of complete, unofficial returns, defeated Brown by some 17,000 votes. Since that time discovery of errors has reduced the lead to where a recheck may reveal Brown was elected.

5 ANSWER CALL

Rev. R. L. Bush Continues Revival at Calvary Church.

Five persons responded to the altar call last night when Rev. R. L. Bush, evangelist at Calvary Evangelical church, preached on "Promise of the Father." More than 45 children were present for the Children's meeting in the afternoon These meetings are held each afternoon at 4 and are open to all children of school age in the city

Rev. Bush said in his sermon last night that everything in the Old Testament pointed to the coming of a Messiah and that the promise was fulfilled.

"God not only makes the promise but He incorporates that promise in a will," he said. "God wills for us to be sanctified. Christ came to execute or carry out the will of the Father and He says 'This is the will of God, even your sanctification' God will do what He promises to do," Rev. Bush concluded.

be responsible for the sizeable figure in the general fund One reason is that the general fund received several thousand dollars more than was anticipated when the last semi annual settlement from the county was made Sept 30, according to City Auditor Landes

Another was increased receipts last month from City hospital and from municipal court Municipal court receipts for the year, however, have been considerably below normal

To Pay Bills to Dec. 15

Following transfer of $15,000 from the hospital and general funds last Monday night by council will enable departments to meet all payrolls and most bills until Dec 15, officials said today.

Several persons have questioned the merit of the one-mill levy since it has been learned that the city will pay its bills until Dec 15 Mayor Don Jones said today "We still say the city has sufficient funds for only a 10 month program next year, since the levy was defeated," Mayor Jones said

"The levy could not have helped conditions this year," Mayor Jones continued, "as it would not begin producing revenue until next year, had it been passed What we need the levy for is increased fixed expenses next year that we didn't have this year

"A few of these include $1,800 pension for former Police Chief J W Thompson, $7,200 in salaries for four firemen, who made possible savings of more than $20,000 in fire insurance premiums here each year, $3,180 additional light bill for "white way" lights on Main street

Police Force Short

"Under this financial handicap, we are running the police department without men to replace former Chief Thompson and E E Cleveland, thereby saving $377 a month These additional expenses must be met, but the money the city will receive will only pay these bills for 10 months"

Even with $15,000 transferred into needy funds all debts of the city can not be paid, according to D. J. Harlow, service director. He pointed to an outstanding debt of approximately $7,500 for street lighting, a bill of $1,800 for water used in sewer flushing, and other expenses for which no provision has been made. The finance committee of council in making appropriations the first of the year did not provide for a 12 month street lighting program, hoping to build up the fund by transfers later in the year Director Harlow said

Foreign Leaders Take Soviet Charges Lightly

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 12—Soviet indictments of eight prominent Russians for alleged counter-revolutionary plotting with British and French governmental figures were believed here today to be a form of domestic propaganda, not to be taken seriously abroad

Mild amusement was the reaction in authoritative London circles. Sir Henri Deterding, International oil leader, who was one of the men accused by the Moscow prosecutor N V Krylenko, of plotting the overthrow of the Moscow regime, laughed outright and commented

"That story is a confession of weakness The Bolsheviks have to concoct stories like that to disguise the fact that their whole system is breaking up The end is near."

Club Elects Officers And Studies Philippines

At the close of election in which of the Sans Souci club, in which Mrs. W. A. Gruber was elected president, the club enjoyed a program on the Philippine Islands yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. D. Porter on the Claridon pike.

Mrs. Porter's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ward, are teaching in the Philippine Islands and Mrs. Porter has quite a large collection of native dresses, shoes and trinkets sent her by her daughter. Yesterday, wearing one of these dresses she read a letter from Mrs. Ward on "A Trip From the U. S. A., telling of her experiences from the time she left New York harbor until she reached the Islands.

"Pa-a-lamat," the Philippine Thanksgiving, was the subject of a paper read by Mrs. Homer Moehn. Mrs. Frank Fairchild read a paper on "A Country Thanksgiving," also dealing with the Philippines.

Officers elected with Mrs. Gruber were Mrs. O. E. Barks, vice president, Mrs. Homer Moehn, secretary, Mrs. A. U. Click, treasurer and Mrs. W. T. Owen, reporter. The club planned to have a chicken supper Friday evening, Nov. 21 at the Schrock school, and to hold an all-day meeting Dec. 16 with Mrs. T. J. Graham of the Richland pike.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Porter to the club members, their guests, Mrs. Dora Redd of Prospect and Mrs. Kate Tobin of Marion.

If You Value Beauty
Banish SKIN CONGESTION

Skin Congestion will ruin the loveliest skin, will make it coarse, sallow and dingy-looking. Use Plough's Cleansing Cream daily, and banish it—quickly, surely! This light cream slips down into the pores and brings to the surface deepest dust, smut and make-up. You merely wipe away the impurities that cause blackheads, blemishes and enlarged pores. Use Plough's Cleansing Cream today....every day ....and watch Skin Congestion vanish. Watch your skin become fine-textured, fresh, clear, smooth, and glowing with natural color. The 50c size of Plough's Cleansing Cream contains more than twice the quantity of the 30c size, and the 75c size is most economical.
♣Skin Congestion denotes the presence of a purulent salve stance in the pores caused by the Accumulation of dust, smut, make-up and other impurities.
You'll Like Plough's Cold Cream (50c, 30c) for nourishing the skin, and Plough's Penetrole (Vanishing Cream 50c, 30c) for protecting the skin.

Castoria...for CHILDREN'S ailments

ARE you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or for the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish spell, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is geniune Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.
You can tell from the formula on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. Begin continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

...d not be true! No, ...e dead. She had never hoped to be more than his most fleeting pleasure but she had given her life into his hands when first he smiled at her. Lester Broon had been killed—shot—and the light of the sun had dimmed and trembled. And he had been shot by Clement Conaldine. Her father.

However there were disagreeable facts to be faced. Rose lost no time in starting for Mr. Perle's office.

The clerk announced that Mr. Perle could see no one, but Rose pushed past him into her ex-guardian's sanctum. He started violently and turned and she saw that though he was as sleek as ever there was something fugitive in his eyes.

"My dear Rose—"

"Of course, you've seen the papers! We know where she is now, anyway."

"Where—?" Mr. Perle managed to look so puzzled that Rose had explained herself before she understood that he was merely gaining time.

"We arranged that I should hang on to—well, the Conaldine money so long as we didn't know where the real Rose was. But now she's been found for us—by this awful business about Lester Broon." Her voice shook. "What are we going to do?"

"We?" he echoed. "How could you assume that I was in any way responsible for your decision to use that money? My recollection is that I acquainted you with certain facts and that you preferred to ignore them."

Rose had the sensation of a violent blow on the chest.

"It is obvious," pursued Mr. Perle, "that the private detective in whom—as you told me—you placed a certain confidence, must have revealed to you enough of the history of Clement Conaldine to make it clear to you that you could not possibly be his legitimate offspring, your age being what it is."

"He never——"

"If any genuine doubt was in your mind, my amplifications must have removed it. Yet you chose to pursue the life of a rich woman. I agree that your position is precarious."

"But—but—what about you? What about the twenty thousand a year—that you were to get?"

"I do not follow you."

"Twenty thousand a year for 12 years. That's $240,000. You pretended that it was to repay you for what you'd spent on my education."

"I believe there is no record of any such agreement," said Mr. Perle smoothly.

"We'll have this out," Rose snapped. "When we made our bargain you said you thought Clement Considine was dead."

"I did, at that time, think that he was dead. I continued to think so until I saw this morning's papers."

"Well, you also told me that you didn't know where to find the real Rose Considine. Was that true?"

"Surely—"

"It wasn't true," cut in Rose. She could read him, now, as though he were a child. "You knew all the time where she was. You were probably in touch with her—" She watched his eyes flicker—"putting her off with some lie or other."

"I must request you to leave this room, young lady, unless you can control yourself. The fact is that—ah—any investigation of your position will show you to be in process of spending money which to your own knowledge is not legally yours. Your position, we agree, is a far from pleasant one, but you can do yourself nothing but harm by making accusations against myself which you cannot in one single detail substantiate."

"You rat!" said Rose.

Mr. Perle look at his watch.

"I shall go to the girl and tell her everything," cried Rose. "I'll take a chance on her having me locked up. There's no reason why she shouldn't believe me and—and lend me some of the money just to train for something. After all, we had the same father!"

"The same father?" echoed Mr. Perle. He looked almost vacant. "You cannot believe, my poor child, that Clement Conaldine was your father?"

Again Rose felt that sensation of the violent, invisable blow.

"You told me so," she whispered.

Mr. Perle frowned.

"Now, Rose, this is really naughty of you. I made it perfectly clear when I described to you Mr. Kevern's original misreading of Conaldine's instruction to us, that he found on inquiry at the Sarah Sidley Home that the child rescued from the Lettington train disaster was dead."

"You lie."

"Oh, come now, it is not the kind of matter that could have slipped my memory! But I am willing to repeat . . . Mr. Kevern was in the act of leaving the home when you caught his attention. He took a fancy to you and decided to adopt you. He went through all the necessary formalities, signed the papers and then he had an—ah—a brainstorm. His memory failed him and by a very curious twist it harked back to the mission which had taken him to the home. In brief, he believed that the child he put into my charge was Conaldine's. It was only the other day that the strange gap in his memory was bridged. He at once informed me that you were not Rose Conaldine nor even Muir's child, but a nameless foundling and I informed you. Or thought I did.

"I do not see, therefore, that you can be said to have any claim whatsoever upon Miss Conaldine's kindness—and I do not imagine that Miss Conaldine will see it, either."

"Why should I believe any of this new tale?" said Rose hoarsely, "about me not even being Margot Muir's child? Why should I?"

Mr. Perle put out a hand, opened a small drawer and drew out a bundle of papers. Rose took them. The top one was a copy of the death certificate of Gladys Muir, daughter of Margot Muir, unmarried. The second were the papers concerning the adoption of a female child, known in the Sarah Sidley Home as Alice Evans, by John Markham Kevern, attorney.

Rose dropped the papers.

"It is all very sad," opined Mr. Perle, retrieving the bundle of papers and locking them carefully away. "I wish very gladly that I could suggest a way to avoid the poverty and drudgery that await you. But I do not see a way."

There was a pause.

"That is to say," amended Mr. Perle, "I do not see a way—that would commend itself to you."

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

I don't think I was so smart yesterday, betting Banty that the ice on the pond wouldn't hold him up. Because now if it don't thaw again and the pond freezes hard, there will be a rough place all winter where he broke the ice when he fell in. I was thinking about that when me and Jubilee woke up, and I got up and got his rope and let him down out of the window, and no one likes to skate over rough ice. If they fall down on it it skins their knees and everything.

It was a little colder this morning and the girls didn't come over while I was milking the dummed brutes, and when I was feeding my face my mother asted my father if he had thought about a Thanksgiving turkey, and he waited a little while and then he said he hadn't thought about anything else, and he didn't see why a nice roast of beef wouldn't do as well as a turkey. Then my grandfather said to not worry about a turkey because he would find one somewhere. He said turkeys aren't as easy to get as they were in the old days when there was a turkey raffle at every saloon and he used to come home with one under each arm and another one hung to his neck. My ant sniffed her nose and said he wasn't any better when he was a young man than he is now, and my grandfather said she was right. He said he is just as young now as he ever was, but he said she would never know how good he was. He said if she had ever been kissed by an expert it would make her feel like she was dancing on bare pink toes acrosst a rose colored ocean, clothed in the morning mist and with every one of her heartstrings singing like a harp and every hair standing on end.

My ant said she didn't care to stay and listen to such talk. So she rolled her eye acrosst the table to see that she wasn't leaving anything, and then got up and went to her room. My grandfather said he was going to go down to the breakwater to see if any one was doing any fishing, and he got up, and Annabelle Lee had been playing with his cane and had left one end of it through his chair and the other under the stove, and my grandfather fell flat on his stummick, and my ant came back out of her room and stood grinning at him, and my mother told me to go to school, because she didn't want me to hear what he was saying.

We went over to the brickyard and gethered up pieces of bark and splinters from around the cordwood piles and made us a little fire, and Banty put a stick with a burning end into the Lost Bag of Tripe's overcoat pocket, so then we all said we smelt clothes burning and we all tried to find out where it was. Then all at once we hollered to him that he was on fire, and we pushed him into the mudhole. But the ice held him up. So the joke was on us. It burnt a hole in his coat. He was supprized.

Imperfect people naturally like imperfect us.

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELE GARRISON

Hectic Days for Madge

"BUT Mr. Tiner," I said as our neighbor made his generous offer to finish up the basement for the Christmas surprise after his own Christmas Eve celebration was over, "we can't let you do that work so late as that. Why—you'll be up—"

"Pretty near all night," he finished with a broad grin. "She that hain't nothin'. I've danced many a Christmas Eve till morning and thought nothin' about it."

"But this is work, not dancing," Dicky protested.

"It's a lot of fun and excitement that we couldn't have any other way," Mr. Tiner answered. "We wouldn't miss it for a farm."

I nudged Dicky and he made no further protest. But we both warmly thanked our simple, big-hearted neighbor, and with a final direction or two concerning some minor details, came upstairs with the assurance that our surprise for the boys would be completed in every detail when Christmas morning arrived.

I do not think I had an opportunity to exchange a dozen sentences with Dicky in the next six days. The young people at The Larches where Helena Brixton was planning an old-fashioned Christmas like our own, were constantly running in and out at the farmhouse bringing Marion home or coming after her, sometimes Ronald came alone but usually the whole crowd trooped along. And whenever they left Mother Graham with a groan would call Katie to put down rugs rolled up for dancing, to fluff up crushed sofa cushions and put back chairs, books and phonograph records scattered as if a baby tornado had invaded the living room.

Helena, Lillian and I tried putting them to work. We enlisted Mary and Noel as leaders and they engineered an candy-making evening in the big kitchen of The Larches, with Helena, Lillian and Harry as reserve forces. Upon the same evening Katherine, Dicky and I had a similar work and frolic with the four boys. When we compared results the next day Lillian and Helena shook their heads ruefully over the infinitely better showing made by the children at the farm.

"I would infinitely prefer keeping tab on a company of trained fleas," Lillian said. "They might stay put for five seconds at a time. I could not count how many times I hauled those girls and boys back from the living-room to look at the candy. They'd disappear for a dance right when the sugar was ready to thread. Of course, they ate most of what they spoiled, so unless they have to have a physician today there is not so much loss. I'm glad your boys came to bat so nobly. The Christmas candy is safe, thanks to them."

It was an infintely merry, homey time, however, and though we oldsters grumbled a bit, I do not think one of us would have missed a minute of the gay swirl in which we lived during the days just preceding Christmas. From Mother Graham whose pride it was to send to Mrs. Brixton mince pies and a plum pudding for her Christmas table, to Katie, who never lost her cheery grin, no matter how much she was called from her kitchen work, we reveled in getting ready for the great day.

And then at last it was the day before Christmas, and Lillian, Katherine and I went to the library after our early breakfast—we had risen before the rest—and planned our last day.

"There isn't a thing left but the decorations, that I can see," Katherine declared.

"And the Yule logs," Lillian amended. "They're going to have one at The Larches, too, Helena tells me."

"But they already have been located," I said, "and the boys brought home the Christmas trees yesterday, so they won't take long."

Lillian's Interest Divided

"Who's going to decorate here?" Lillian asked and Katherine winked at me.

"Why you, of course as the head decorator," she said, but Lillian had caught the wink and refused to be drawn.

"I know I'm a mess leaving you in the lurch," she said, "but I can't ask Marion to leave all the other young people over there——"

"Especially when the alternative would be Ronald's leaving his mother's Christmas flat," Katherine put in slyly, and seeing Lillian flush I struck in, for fear she might be hurt.

"Don't be an anointed idiot just because you know how," I quoted. "Of course Marion must be over there for part of the Christmas celebration at least and that means equally of course, you and Harry must be there, too. But why can't you do this, come over here about eleven o'clock and watch Christmas in."

"Rather dance it in," Lillian said ruefully. "But I'm sure that's the solution. Indeed, I don't think you could keep 'em away."

"Artistic Nerves"

"I'd know something was wrong with the farmhouse hospitality if they stay away," I told her. "That is all arranged then. But don't come until I telephone that the small youngsters are sound asleep. After they're once off in that backroom of theirs, the rest of the party can set off bombs in the living-room and not waken Junior or Roderock."

"And probably will set them off," Lillian said resignedly. "It's the only thing they haven't done so far at Helena's. I suppose you're going to have Bill and Hank do the decorating over here. That's good, sound psychology; but I don't envy your artistic sensibilities."

"This is a children's Christmas," I said emphatically. "If the 'artistic nerves' of our other guests suffer, I can't help it. But Mary and Noel have consented to give the boys an unobtrusive hand, and Dicky and I will be in the offing."

"All you need to make it complete is old Phil handing out some of his artistic ideas," Lillian said, with a side look at me.
